Dimensions '85

An Exhibition of Saskatchewan Crafts

The Annual S.C.C. Exhibition DIMENSIONS '85 opened at the 12th Annual Saskatchewan Handcraft Festival, in the Town of Battleford, July 19, 20, and 21, 1985.

The S.C.C. would like to thank the crafts people of Saskatchewan for their response, both in the number of entries and in the high standard of those entries.

DIMENSIONS '85, an exhibition of contemporary crafts by crafts people of Saskatchewan was sponsored by the S.C.C. with assistance from the Saskatchewan Department of Tourism and Small Business, and the Town of Battleford.

Saskatchewan Craft Council (S.C.C.) Chairman:

Patrick Adams

Jurors' Comments

Dimensions '85 is the major showcase exhibition for Saskatchewan crafts. The recognition it offers both in terms of prestige and financial reward ranks it second to none in the country. We would like to have felt that this alone would have generated a special effort which we only saw in a limited number of works. We also sense a lack of awareness of developments in the arts both in Canada and abroad. The pieces which were chosen for the show display a consistently high level of craftsmanship. Few pieces, however, extend beyond their traditions and venture into contemporary concerns and issues. It would seem, therefore, that the craftsman needs to be more conscious and provocative in the expression of his/her ideas and beliefs.

We felt that the strongest entries were in wood and fibre. There were several outstanding objects in each of these categories. Leather and beadwork traditions were also impressive. Ceramics and glass were disappointing. Despite a very high number of entries in ceramics, most objects lacked innovation and creativity beyond the expected.

The structure and incentives of the exhibition, and the quality of the work that we saw, leads us to believe the exhibition can be even stronger in the future.
